Company: Knurek Investigations

Role: Client Relations Manager

Dear James,

As an independent lead generation specialist with hands-on experience building B2B pipelines from scratch, I was drawn to the Client Relations Manager position at Knurek Investigations. The ability to work independently in a remote environment while maintaining an organized, results-driven pipeline aligns perfectly with how I successfully run my current outbound operations.

Through my independent practice, CLG Project, I have sourced and qualified 500+ B2B prospects and developed targeted outreach campaigns, consistently generating 5–10 qualified leads per week. I am highly comfortable using HubSpot and other sales technology to ensure accurate tracking and follow-up. While my direct experience has been in the e-commerce consulting space, I have built a strong foundation in consultative selling, discretion, and professional communication—and I am eager to bring that discipline into the legal and investigative services domain.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my proactive approach to lead generation and pipeline management can support the continued growth of Knurek Investigations.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
