Company: AdSTARS.Agency

Role: Business Development Executive

Dear Denis,

As a highly self-directed Business Development Specialist who recently built an outbound pipeline from scratch, I was immediately drawn to the remote Business Development Executive role at AdSTARS.Agency. I excel in autonomous environments and have a strong track record of independently generating qualified leads and managing CRM workflows.

While operating my independent practice, I successfully sourced and qualified over 500 B2B prospects. A core part of my revenue model involved identifying conversion friction in e-commerce businesses and connecting them with vetted web development and CRO agencies. This gave me hands-on experience positioning agency services to business owners. Through rigorous A/B testing and structured outreach, I generated 5–10 qualified leads per week and booked 3 discovery meetings with US decision-makers.

I am highly organized, comfortable managing my own time in a remote setting, and heavily utilize CRM tools to track performance metrics. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my disciplined prospecting approach and ability to nurture opportunities can help AdSTARS.Agency scale its client base.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
