To: Hiring Team

Company: Blinq.co

Role: Sales Development Representative (Appointment Setter)

Dear Hiring Team,

Blinq's approach to building outbound systems for founder-led agencies perfectly mirrors my own daily operations. When I saw you were looking for an SDR with roughly 6–18 months of appointment-setting experience who writes naturally without rigid scripts, I knew I had to apply.

As an independent B2B contractor based in Europe (Spain) with ~1.5 years of dedicated lead generation experience (running my own practice, CLG Project), I know exactly how to turn cold LinkedIn audiences into qualified discovery calls. My primary job is identifying relevant outreach angles, starting natural conversations, understanding the lead's situation, and moving them toward a call without "hard-pitching."

I am highly disciplined with CRM accuracy, meticulous with EOD reporting, and fully comfortable monitoring active conversations over the weekend to ensure no lead goes cold and reply speed remains high.

I am fully set up to work as an independent contractor, invoice Blinq directly, and manage my own taxes. I thrive on feedback and am ready to dive into the 30-day paid trial to prove my outreach consistency, qualification skills, and ability to create a healthy pipeline for your first client account.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
