

Daniil Kotelevets

Alicante, Spain | +34 698 996 086 | dkotelevets2007@gmail.com | linkedin.com/in/daniil-kotelevets-1a470a296

Date: August 20, 2026

To: Dr. Roberto Ugolini & Hiring Team

Company: CaviarEat

Role: Sales Specialist

Dear Dr. Roberto Ugolini,

With a proven track record of managing B2B sales pipelines and engaging senior decision-makers, I am very excited to apply for the remote Sales Specialist position at CaviarEat. The opportunity to drive sales for your premium caviar selections and build relationships with culinary professionals perfectly aligns with my proactive commercial approach.

Over the past year, I have built and operated an independent outbound prospecting system from scratch. Using structured methodologies and professional CRMs like Salesforce and HubSpot, I successfully sourced and qualified over 500 B2B prospects. By accurately targeting decision-makers and iterating on my outreach messaging, I generated a consistent 5–10 qualified leads per week and booked high-value discovery meetings. While my lead generation background has not been strictly in luxury gastronomy, the core mechanics of identifying high-end dining establishments, qualifying leads, and maintaining rigorous CRM hygiene translate perfectly to this role.

Working completely remotely as an independent professional, I possess the strong time management and organizational skills necessary to thrive in this contract role. I am highly comfortable responding promptly to inquiries, preparing proposals, and conducting virtual product presentations to ensure clients fully understand the exceptional quality of your curated product portfolio.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my disciplined B2B prospecting can help CaviarEat achieve its revenue goals.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets