Role: Appointment Setter Inbound

Dear Hiring Team,

I was instantly drawn to Dudons' philosophy: "No vendemos como tiburones: vendemos como asesores." As a bilingual Lead Generation Specialist who built an independent practice targeting US professionals and executives, my entire workflow is built around this exact consultative approach. I would love to bring my qualification skills and advisory mindset to your inbound team.

Working entirely self-directed, I have sourced and rigorously qualified over 500 prospects. By focusing deeply on the prospect's actual situation and pain points, I successfully generated 5–10 highly qualified leads per week and secured 3 discovery meetings with busy US decision-makers. While my background is in outbound lead generation rather than inbound B2C phone sales, the core competency remains identical: asking the right questions, establishing trust, and guiding professionals to the next step without high-pressure tactics.

Being fluent in both Spanish and English, and having extensive experience engaging with the US market, I am perfectly positioned to connect with your specific audience. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my analytical qualification process and advisory communication style can help maximize your inbound conversions.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
