

Daniil Kotelevets

Alicante, Spain | +34 698 996 086 | dkotelevets2007@gmail.com | linkedin.com/in/daniil-kotelevets-1a470a296

Date: October 1, 2026

To: Hiring Team

Company: NextGen

Role: Sales Development Representative

Dear Hiring Team,

NextGen builds outbound engines that outperform in-house teams. As an independent B2B lead generation specialist who has built my own outbound engine from scratch for B2B tech clients (CLG Project), I know exactly what it takes to research accounts properly, spot buying signals, and book qualified meetings.

I live in the exact tech stack you require: Apollo, Instantly, HubSpot, and Salesforce. I don't just "spray and pray"; I use advanced workflow automation (Make.com) and AI (Claude/Python) to track real signals like tech stack changes or funding rounds, allowing me to write highly personalized outreach that busy executives actually reply to.

Regarding the daily cold calling requirement, I want to be fully transparent: my core conversion engine is highly targeted, AI-driven digital outbound (Email/LinkedIn) followed by rigorous discovery calls and targeted phone follow-ups. While I am entirely comfortable on the phone and use it strategically to qualify prospects, my primary value is building a digital pipeline so precise and compelling that we don't need to rely on volume-based blind telemarketing.

I am completely self-managing, deeply curious about B2B markets, and ready to execute high-volume, high-quality campaigns for your clients. I look forward to discussing how my tech-driven approach aligns with NextGen's goals.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets