To: Will Pedro & the ReturnIT.Help Team

Role: Business Development Representative

Dear Will,

As a proactive Business Development Representative who specializes in building repeatable outbound sales processes from scratch, I was immediately drawn to this part-time contract role at ReturnIT.Help. ReturnIT helps IT and HR teams eliminate manual recovery processes—and similarly, I help founders eliminate manual prospecting by engineering scalable B2B outbound pipelines.

Operating as an independent contractor, I recently built an end-to-end outbound engine connecting B2B decision-makers with digital solutions. Utilizing tools like Apollo.io, Instantly.ai, and LinkedIn Sales Navigator, I researched over 500 targeted prospects and initiated highly personalized outreach campaigns. Because my methodology relies heavily on scalable, automated digital channels (Email and LinkedIn) rather than traditional cold calling, I was able to consistently secure 5-10 qualified leads per week.

Once a prospect engaged, I managed the entire discovery process within HubSpot, identifying their operational friction and communicating clear business value instead of relying on generic scripts. I am highly comfortable working directly with founders in a remote startup environment to rapidly test new messaging, refine targeting, and drive pilot programs.

My part-time flexibility perfectly aligns with your 16-hour/week requirement, and I am fully available to work during US business hours. I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my disciplined outbound process can generate meaningful conversations and secure pilot customers for ReturnIT.Help.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
