To: Marvin C., Chief Operations Officer, Social Network Studios

Role: Lead Generation

Dear Marvin,

When I read that Social Network Studios is looking for a motivated college student or recent graduate to identify decision-makers and generate 5–10 qualified leads per month, I knew I had to apply. As a university student running my own B2B lead generation practice with a highly flexible remote schedule, I already accomplish these exact metrics—generating 5–10 qualified leads per week.

In my current role, I research and build highly targeted lead lists using Apollo.io and LinkedIn Sales Navigator. I recognize the difference between strong potential clients and mass messaging, focusing exclusively on targeted, personalized outreach across Email and LinkedIn to open productive conversations. I track all outreach and responses meticulously in HubSpot and Salesforce, ensuring no opportunity slips through the cracks, before successfully moving interested prospects into active discussions with my consulting partners.

I am highly organized, confident in my written communication, and very comfortable researching brands online. I would welcome the opportunity to bring my hands-on experience with Apollo, Sales Navigator, and CRM management to SNS and help your creative agency connect with top-tier talent and lifestyle brands.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
