

Daniil Kotelevets

Alicante, Spain | +34 698 996 086 | dkotelevets2007@gmail.com | linkedin.com/in/daniil-kotelevets-1a470a296

Date: September 29, 2026

To: Letícia Alves / Talent Acquisition Team

Company: SPHERIA

Role: Analista de Negocios Junior (Remoto | España)

Dear Letícia Alves,

I am writing to apply for the Junior Business Analyst position at SPHERIA. The requirement to act as a point of contact between business users and technical teams aligns perfectly with my background, and my flexible university schedule as a BSc Multimedia Engineering student makes me an ideal fit for a 4-hour daily commitment.

In my independent practice (CLG Project), I worked directly at the intersection of business and technology. I analyzed Shopify and e-commerce stores for digital friction points—such as cart abandonment and mobile page speed issues—and documented these business requirements to connect store owners with technical web development agencies capable of implementing fixes. Beyond gathering requirements, I am highly organized and proficient in managing operational data and prospect activities using CRM platforms like HubSpot and Salesforce. I also have hands-on experience building automated digital workflows from scratch using Make.com and Python.

I am eager to bring my analytical skills, my advanced English, and my technical background to SPHERIA to help organize and support your international digital transformation projects.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets