Company: Tangent (Partner Tech Company)

Role: Entry-level Sales Role (BDR)

Dear Tangent Mentors and Hiring Team,

I am incredibly excited to apply for the Entry-level Business Development Representative role through the Tangent platform. The opportunity to bypass traditional recruitment roadblocks, connect directly with mentors, and kickstart my career in tech sales at a VC-backed startup aligns perfectly with my proactive mindset and drive to achieve outcomes.

While no sales experience is strictly necessary for this role, I am bringing a proven foundation in B2B outbound lead generation. Operating independently over the last year, I sourced and qualified over 500 B2B prospects. By enthusiastically executing cold email and social media (LinkedIn) outreach campaigns, I generated a consistent 5–10 qualified leads per week and secured discovery meetings with senior decision-makers. I am highly comfortable iterating on messaging, tracking results, and working autonomously in a fast-paced environment.

I hold full EU work authorization, allowing me to work in Ireland without the need for sponsorship. While currently based in Spain, my schedule is highly flexible and I am eager to relocate to Dublin for a hybrid or in-office role. I am an excellent communicator and a natural relationship-builder, and I look forward to completing my video intro to show you why I would be a great fit for your sales team.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
