To: Isabel Negro, Partnerships, Triple

Role: Sales Development Representative

Dear Isabel,

"You already work with AI every day... and you can show us something you built."

When I read that requirement in your job description, I immediately knew I was the right fit for Triple. As an independent B2B Lead Generation Specialist, I don't just use AI—I build my own tooling to automate the repetitive parts of prospecting so my time goes entirely into high-value conversations.

Over the past year, I built an end-to-end outbound engine from scratch. Using Make.com workflows, Apollo.io, and Python, I automated the extraction and enrichment of over 500 target accounts. I engineered custom ChatGPT prompts to draft highly personalized, sharp outreach messages across Email and LinkedIn at scale. This AI-driven architecture consistently generates 5–10 qualified leads per week and secures 3 weekly discovery meetings. Every interaction is flawlessly tracked in HubSpot and Salesforce to ensure a sharp handover.

While my outbound expertise is entirely digital (Email/LinkedIn) rather than phone-based, and I am transitioning into the fintech space, my academic background in Multimedia Engineering gives me a deep technical understanding of data enrichment and AI agents. I am based in Spain, completely comfortable with a data-driven target over my head, and fully prepared for regular travel to North America and client sites.

I would love to show you the automation workflows I've built.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
