Role: Business Development Representative

Dear Mihai,

When I read that UPPER is not looking for someone to "simply execute predefined sequences," but rather an entrepreneurial builder comfortable with modern GTM infrastructure and AI, I knew I had to apply. As an independent B2B Lead Generation Specialist, I have spent the last year doing exactly that.

Without a team or budget, I built an end-to-end outbound engine from scratch targeting the US market. Using Apollo.io, LinkedIn Sales Navigator, and Python scraping workflows, I sourced and enriched 500+ prospects. Rather than relying on static scripts, I integrated AI copywriting tools and Make.com to continuously optimize and personalize my outbound sequences (Email and LinkedIn). This data-driven, highly automated approach generated 5–10 qualified leads per week and converted those signals into 3 weekly discovery meetings with senior decision-makers.

Furthermore, my background studying Multimedia Engineering gives me a direct understanding of software engineering and product development. This allows me to confidently engage CTOs and engineering leaders regarding their technical hiring needs. I am highly resilient, driven by experimentation, and eager to leverage UPPER's AI GTM engine to generate highly qualified commercial opportunities.

I look forward to discussing how my outbound execution can drive your pipeline forward.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
