Role: Account Development Manager - EMEA

Dear Arjola,

As a proactive, tech-savvy B2B sales professional who thrives on uncovering business pain points, I am writing to express my strong interest in joining Wrike as an Account Development Manager in EMEA.

Over the past year, I have built and operated an independent B2B lead generation practice. Relying strictly on data-driven prospecting (Email and LinkedIn) and comprehensive CRM management in Salesforce and HubSpot, I sourced and evaluated over 500 decision-makers. My focus is always on understanding the unique pain points of the client—specifically in optimizing digital operations—and translating that into a commercial opportunity. I consistently generate 5–10 qualified leads per week and secure 3 discovery meetings weekly.

While my expertise is deeply rooted in top-of-funnel opportunity generation and discovery rather than full-cycle closing or high-volume phone outreach, my structured approach to pipeline management and my critical problem-solving mentality allow me to rigorously prioritize opportunities. I am highly coachable, completely fluent in English, and eager to collaborate with your Sales Engineers and Professional Services teams to help knowledge workers unlock the full value of Wrike's powerful platform.

I look forward to discussing how my proactive opportunity management can support your growth in EMEA.

Sincerely,

Daniil Kotelevets
